A telegram was received at the Navy Department two weeks ago stating that M. Schwenk had accidentally shot himself while on duty as officer of the watch on the Alert. Mail advices received yesterday put a more serious light on the matter. While on duty on the vessel Lieutenant Schwenk stooped to pick up a revolver, which proved to have been tied in such a manner that, when lifted, a bow line slipped over the trigger, causing it to discharge. Commodore Graham reports that there can be no doubt it was a plan to assassinate some officer of the vessel, and that he has ordered a searching investigation. Lieutenant Schwenk was seriously wounded in the left wrist, and blood poisoning is feared.

Archbishop Corrigan's Remarks.

New Year. May 17.—Archbishop Corrigan made his canonical visitation to the church of the Sacred Heart this morning. Low mass was celebrated, at the conclusion of which the Archbishop spoke on the popular errors prevalent at the present time. First there was the idea that private cownership in land was unjust. This idea had a right to came and as against the teachings of the Catholic Church. Those who claimed that land, like sunshine and air, was the free gift of God, and equally the property of all, overlooked the great difference that som and air cannot become private property as can land. He declared that every man had a right to acquire by honest means as much property as he could, and cited the Indians an example of the disastrous result of the "free land policy." The Archbishop wished to combat was that the Pope had the right to combat was that the Pope and that those who the decrees of the Pope and that those who favored it knew that they were infringing on the ordinances of God. The second favored it knew that they were infringing on the ordinances of God. The second favored it knew that the Pope had the right to combat was that the Pope had the right to combat was that the Pope had the right to combat was that the Pope had the right to combat was that the Pope had the right to combat was that the Pope had the right to combat was that the Pope had the right to combat was that the Pope had the right to combat was that the Pope had the right to combat was that the Pope had the right to combat was that the Pope had the right to combat was that the Pope had the right to combat was that the Pope had the right to combat was that the Pope had the right to combat was the property of the varies of politics unless Gov ernments interfere in matters of faith and morals, but not in discipline let him be an athematiced. The Pope however, does not interfere in matters of conscience, and he has warned all bishops and archibistops that they must be obedient to the God and the Richmond.

The Swans' Fail.

CHETENER, Wyo., May 17.—It became known here early this morning that late last Saturday night Swan Brothers, the well-known firm of live stock dealers, consisting of Alexander H. and Thomas Swan, had made an assignment of all the proper creditors, without any preferement. The liabilities are not yet determined, but it is learned from the best authority that the assets of the firm will be largely in excess of the larm will be largely in excess of the larm will be largely in excess of the liabilities. Swan Brothers have been doing an extensive business throughout the west, and up to this time have met their engagements promptly and enjoyed the highest degree of public confidence and credit. The direct cause of this suspension is due to the action by attachment, brought against A. H. Swan by the German Savings Bank of Davenport, lowa, on a note which had been signed by Swan as surety, and when no ultimate loss could occur because of the bank being fully protected by property of the principal. This action, however easied the creditors not advised of the real facts to become alarmed, was reached without a sign of hostility except an occasional hoot or hiss from an surety, and when no ultimate loss could occur because of the bank being fully protected by property of the principal. This action, however easied the creditors not advised of the real facts to become alarmed, and many claims were presented against the firm not yet due, and for which payment had not been provided till maturity; but these now demanded an immediate settlement. Alex Swan was at the time in Europe and had no notice that such as action was contemplated on the part of the bank, and no opportunity was given to protect himself against it. This caused a run on the firm in the absence of its many company which no opportunity was given to protect himself against it. This caused a run on the firm in
